

Tell me About Yourself:

Who are you? What is your name? State it before describing yourself.
I am a kind and compassionate student who strives for excellence. Additionally, I set high expectations for myself and always try to improve myself. Because I believe that Tautology. You need to rewrite this. self improvement is the best improvement. I am a pretty social person and is always open to making make new friends. To further explain, I am a very approachable person who is kind and an caring towards others. An additional fact about myself is that I'm Im a respectful person who follows rules. I have many hobbies and interests like Basketball, Cricket, Piano and Reading. These interests. Follow the correct numbers of noun. interest keep me fit, educated and eager to learn more about the world and differing perspectives. One of my favourite sports is Basketball. I play this sport at a competitive level for my local team. It teaches me how to cooperate effectively with other people. It keeps me fit and responsive to my environment. Another sport that I play is cricket. One of the most popular sports. I enjoy playing cricket because you can work on all physical movements. Running, throwing and catching. This helps you to be quicker at movements and have a quicker reaction time. Another interest of mine is playing the piano. It offers me peace and a space to vent out feelings. I love music as it is relaxing and after a long day it is all you really need to relax. Another one of my most beloved hobbies is reading. I read all sorts of books from non-fiction to fiction to biographies. Books act as an easy and enticing way to grasp knowledge. Fiction books allow your mind to be creative and think outside the box. All in all, I'm or I am Im a persistent, caring person, who loves to play sports and play the piano.

Why are you the perfect fit for this School:

I am Im a perfect fit for this school because I understand that this school is academically pleasing and I will do my best to strive for my goals in the present and future. In addition, I love the compulsory sport where we can compete in teams and learn resilience to bounce back from any problem. To further exemplify, I want to share my love for sport with all the students. So, I want to make a positive difference where all people are interested in or at least don't despise an active community. Moreover, I think that I can make a contribution by leading more kids to love sports and active lifestyles. As this school has a Christian <sup>background</sup> background, I believe that I'll fit in perfectly with the students around me. It would be a great honour to study at this school. I will work hard to inspire other students. As hobbies and interests, I play basketball at a competitive level and I also enjoy playing the piano in my free time. I heard that this school has a band so my skills could finally have some use. I love working in a team in any situation and being <sup>part</sup> part of an <sup>lowercase</sup> Athletic and musical team would be great. At my current school, I have grasped a Prefect position in the SRC and hope that I can become a great leader at this school aswell. Moreover, I would hopefully contribute by helping other students learn and getting them involved in thought-provoking exercises. Coming to this school will grant me a higher education <sup>that's</sup> thats tailored to me.

Note:

Your answer in the first essay is faulty and perplexing. People won't listen to you because you did not say your name. When introducing yourself. It is imperative to say your name. Moreover, you have to avoid being tautological. State your descriptions in a brief and concise manner. Then on your second essay, you need to sell the qualities that makes you unique and qualified for the school. Include your achievements and accolades here.

Mark 44/50