

Part 2

I believe that I could contribute to my private school as I can help settle down people who are new to this school as I am easy to talk with and I can help the school as I can be in the SRC and be a good school captain have been to the scout's leadership courses.

Since I am easy to talk with, I helped people settle peacefully in this school year 1, I was settling my friend Jayden. As I can talk well with him I talked to him at recess and I helped him get used to what we do in class and after that, I became friends with him. In year 5, I also can had have can talk easily with others. When my teacher told me to sit with Luke since he has no friends and is new to the school, it was easy to talk with him and we found that we share common interests and soon we became friends. In both situations, I settled them peacefully and to them, I was just the starting point.

I can contribute to the school as I went to a leadership course in 2022 for scouts. I am also a an assistant patrol leader. I have helped people think of new activities for scouts and I also have learnt many different things about how to look after the younger people. All of this will help me in being an effective school captain.

I believe that I can contribute to my dream private school as I can help other people to settle in like what I did to my friends and did leadership courses and am an assistant patrol leader for scouts.

That's exceptional to see that you have got this much potential, but you have to work more on your writing skills.

This piece contains too many repetitive phrases like I can talk very well/ I used to talk to them. This redundancy in speech is making you sound monotonous and exhibits a lack of confidence. You could have simply said that you have got significantly better/best/marvellous/ exceptional communication skills, you have those qualities which it takes to be a good leader.

Point out the personality traits that make you outshine others i.e. strategic thinking, communication, empathy, flexibility, enthusiasm etc.

Utilise high-quality emotive language, that makes others engage with you. Show your communication skills here.

Hope you find this feedback constructive, keep up the hard work!
