

As someone who was born overseas, I can share and teach other students about my culture and background. I personally believe that you can learn a lot from someone who has different learning, musical, and personal experiences, this way classmates are more open to the wide world in knowledge or in morals. As an *SRC for currently three years and will be four years after this year as I was elected **school captain. Because of this, this year I will be going to the Young Leader Conference where I can gather knowledge to become a fully-fledged leader. I hope if I get into Meriden there will be some type of leadership role that I can take on and pass on my existing knowledge.

*My school doesn't actually have SRCs we call them class representatives

**Like the above statement my school also doesn't have school captains, we call them ministers

Note:

Nice descriptive writing. The work has potential but it can still be expounded better to cover a good image of the experience or the whole product. Also, some parts of the work are corrected above, you may go over them and improve more on the punctuation placements to upgrade the writing piece.

Keep going!
