

Section 1:

#1: "Mrs Krocher, why does my sandwich have no pickles?" questioned Olivia. Mrs Krocher stayed silent until Olivia impatiently asked again. "The pickles have disappeared," muttered quietly. "What! How?" exclaimed Olivia, "Did the culprit leave any trace of information?" Mrs Krocher didn't answer but just got up and walked away. It seemed that the famous Great Pickle had no chance of happening now as it was only a week away. Olivia decided that this was urgent and made a club to help find the pickles. Only Derrick, Anna and Evan joined the club. But that was enough to figure the culprit.

a. Strengths:

- Engaging dialogue that introduces the conflict
- Establishes the main character and sets up the mystery

b. Weaknesses: Main issue: Lack of descriptive detail Your writing could benefit from more descriptive language to set the scene and create atmosphere. For instance, when Mrs Krocher "muttered quietly", you could describe her body language or facial expression to enhance the reader's understanding of her character.

c. Exemplar: "The pickles have disappeared," Mrs Krocher muttered quietly, her eyes darting nervously around the room as she wrung her hands.

#2: Later at Olivia's house, they discussed how the crates of pickles have gone. Derrick said that the pickles got abducted by aliens but how was that possible? How many spaceships would have been used to take the pickles? Later in the meeting they decided to go check the forest which Olivia lived near.

a. Strengths:

- Introduces creative ideas through Derrick's suggestion
- Shows the characters actively trying to solve the mystery

b. Weaknesses: Main issue: Underdeveloped ideas Your writing introduces interesting concepts but doesn't fully explore them. The alien abduction idea is intriguing, but it's quickly dismissed without much consideration. Expanding on this idea or the characters' reactions to it could add depth to your story.

c. Exemplar: Derrick's wild theory about alien pickle abduction sparked a heated debate among the club members, with Anna rolling her eyes and Evan excitedly calculating the number of UFOs required for such a heist.

#3: " Tommorrow we will take the pickles to that old green house!" boomed a loud voice. They suddenly realised it was the mayor that was leading the club so it was no use trying to confront the club the club. So they decided to ruin the plan. So when the meeting ended they decided that the on the day of the parade they will lead the people to the old green house and make the parade still happen.

a. Strengths:

- Reveals the identity of the culprit, creating a twist
- Shows the characters adapting their plan

b. Weaknesses: Main issue: Rushed pacing Your writing moves too quickly through important plot points. The revelation of the mayor's involvement and the characters' decision to "ruin the plan" happen in rapid succession without giving the reader time to process the information or understand the characters' thought processes.

c. Exemplar: The club members exchanged shocked glances as they recognised the mayor's booming voice. Olivia's mind raced, weighing the risks of confronting such a powerful figure against the importance of their mission. After a tense whispered discussion, they agreed: they would have to be clever and use the upcoming parade to expose the truth.

Actionable task: Rewrite the paragraph where the club discovers the mayor's involvement, focusing on the characters' reactions and decision-making process. Ensure to include dialogue and inner thoughts to slow down the pacing and add depth to the scene.

Overall score: 42/50
