

Section 1:

#1 [First answer about weakness/strength] Strengths:

- Honest self-reflection about a personal weakness
- Includes a specific solution to address the weakness

Weaknesses: Limited Development Your response about organisation lacks concrete examples of impact and improvement. "I sometimes forget where I put my stuff" is vague and could be strengthened with specific situations. The solution of "exactly remembering where I put it" needs more detail about practical strategies.

Exemplar: "My weakness is organisation - specifically keeping track of school materials. I've missed assignment deadlines because of misplaced documents, but I've developed a system using colour-coded folders and a daily checklist to manage my belongings better."

#2 [Group projects answer] Strengths:

- Provides a specific example (First Lego League)
- Links group work to personal development

Weaknesses: Shallow Analysis Your response focuses on surface-level benefits of group work. "Group projects allow me to socialise and interact" could delve deeper into specific skills gained. The Lego League example needs elaboration about your role and learning outcomes.

Exemplar: "I value our school's emphasis on collaborative projects, particularly the First Lego League competition. As team coordinator for our nine-person group, I've learned to delegate tasks, mediate conflicts, and appreciate different problem-solving approaches."

#3 [Future goals answer] Strengths:

- Shows clear passion and ambition
- Identifies a specific career goal

Weaknesses: Lack of Strategic Detail Your swimming champion aspiration lacks concrete steps and milestones. "With a lot of dedication" and "really points out to me" are vague statements that don't convey your commitment or planning.

Exemplar: "I aim to compete in national swimming championships within six years. I'm currently training 20 hours weekly, consistently improving my freestyle times, and working with my coach to develop a pathway to state-level competition next year."

Actionable Task: Revise your swimming champion answer by creating a detailed timeline of specific achievements you need to reach within the next six years, including competition levels, training commitments, and performance targets.

Overall Score: 40/50

Section 2:

1. Weakness (ACTIONS)/Strength ~~One of my weaknesses is organisation, as I sometimes misplace belongings.~~ [One of my weaknesses is organisation, which manifests in frequently misplacing belongings.] I sometimes forget where I put my stuff and don't remember where it was and then I go around my house trying to find it. ~~I have been able to solve this weakness by exactly remembering where I put it and repeating it in my mind.~~ [To address this weakness, I've developed a habit of mentally noting item locations and creating designated spaces for important belongings.] #1

One of my strengths is creative thinking. ~~I am amazing at solving questions that require thinking outside of the box and using creative methods to solve equations or questions.~~ [I excel at solving problems that require thinking outside the box, particularly when applying creative methods to mathematical equations and complex questions.]

1. What things do you like most at school? Things that I like most about our school are group projects. ~~It requires collaboration from large groups.~~ [These projects require extensive collaboration among large groups.] For example at school, we're doing the First Lego League competition and we have to compete in groups of eight to nine. Group projects allow me to socialise and interact with others in the group and know more about them. #2
2. What do you see yourself doing in 6 years? ~~I see myself becoming a swimming champion in six years with a lot of dedication.~~ [In six years, I envision myself becoming a swimming champion through dedicated training and perseverance.] I am really passionate about swimming and hope to become an Australian swimmer. ~~Being a swimmer really points out to me so I believe I will pursue it in the six years.~~ [Swimming resonates deeply with me, and I am committed to pursuing this path over the next six years.] #3