

Section 1:

#1 (First paragraph): Strengths:

- Strong sensory details in describing the juice bar atmosphere
- Effective establishment of conflict through Jack's internal thoughts

Weaknesses: Inconsistent Tense Usage —> Your writing shifts between past and present tense within the paragraph, particularly in "How could someone possibly have the slightest trail of idea." The mixing of tenses disrupts the narrative flow.

Exemplar: "How could anyone even consider transforming the vibrant Venice boardwalk into another soulless mall, he wondered."

#2 (Third and fourth paragraphs): Strengths:

- Compelling twist with the suited man's unexpected support
- Vivid character description

Weaknesses: Underdeveloped Scene Transition —> Your transition between the man's arrival and his statement feels abrupt, particularly in "like a whisper, the, the man said." The repeated article and minimal scene-setting reduce the moment's impact.

Exemplar: "The man approached deliberately, and when he spoke, his whispered words caught Jack by surprise."

#3 (Final paragraph): Strengths:

- Clear resolution to the central conflict
- Emotional payoff for the characters

Weaknesses: Rushed Conclusion —> Your ending feels hastily resolved, especially in "he was just happy that everyone was happy again." The resolution lacks the emotional depth established earlier in the piece.

Exemplar: "As Jack shared the message's contents, a wave of relief swept through the crowd. Their beloved boardwalk would remain unchanged, preserving the heart and soul of Venice Beach."

Actionable Task: Rewrite the final paragraph, focusing on expanding the emotional impact of the resolution by including specific details about the protesters' reactions and Jack's personal feelings about their victory.

Overall Score: 41/50

Section 2:

Jack weaved through the waves of ~~bustling~~ [the bustling] crowd as he skated straight into the old and quirky juice bar. He sat on one of the many weathered ~~seat~~ [seats] as he ordered the classic coke float. The lady, in her mid 90s, made it with her traditional family recipe. #1 ~~How could someone possibly have the slightest trail of idea~~ [How could anyone possibly think] of changing the beautiful and vivid Venice boardwalk into another soulless and lifeless mall, he thought. While he was drinking he made a decision to take action against this outrageous conception.

The next day, he and his best friend, Zack met up on the bench press to have a serious conversation. After Jack put up the idea of taking up action, Zack instantly said that he could get more people in favour of them. As Jack looked to his side, he saw a sleek black Rolls Royce pulled up. A man stepped out in an expensive suit and as Jack looked down to his hand, he was holding a briefcase and a gleaming gold Rolex on his wrist. Jack's smile instantly got wiped off his face. They were about to fight against a lot of power and money.

#2 The man walked straight to him and ~~jack~~ [Jack] gulped, ~~like a whisper, the~~, the [in a whisper, the] man said "You are a strong boy and I am 100% in your favour."

As Jack sighed in relief, he thanked the man with his fingers crossed. They quickly got to work knowing that they wouldn't have much time left. Zack instantly went to make advertisements around the boardwalk. ~~As~~ [While] Jack started to practise his speech on how important the Venice Boardwalk is. As he was practising, he saw his worst enemy. The developers. He hated the way their pot bellies made the buttons pop and their suspenders stretched out to the absolute most, he hated the way that they pointed aggressively as their yellow teeth leered in greed.

Jack found it hard ignoring the ugly fat men, but he did. After about an hour, Zack came back with at least 2 dozen people. As they decided to group together, They all went on a mad rampage on the Boardwalk trying to get people to join. Shouts of Save Venice, Don't do this! He secretly knew that the operation to save Venice had started.

#3 Slowly he saw more people joining, and as they went for the council. Then, he got a text message, ~~If you stop this, we'll keep Venice Boardwalk the way it is.~~ ["If you stop this, we'll keep Venice Boardwalk the way it is."] Jack commanded everyone to stop, and as he explained what the message said, he was just happy that everyone was happy again.