

Section 1:

#1 "I value my classmates and have learned how to work well with many different people. Being part of teams has taught me the value of communication and supporting each other to reach our goals."

Strengths:

- Shows genuine appreciation for collaborative learning
- Demonstrates personal growth through teamwork experiences

Weaknesses: Limited Concrete Evidence → Your response would be more impactful if you included a specific example of how you've demonstrated these teamwork skills. The current statement remains general without showcasing actual leadership moments.

Exemplar: "I value my classmates and have demonstrated this by initiating study groups for challenging subjects, where I've learned to adapt my communication style to help peers with different learning approaches succeed in their goals."

#2 "I am not very competitive, so I like working on school projects, organizing events, and creating a positive atmosphere."

Strengths:

- Shows self-awareness
- Highlights constructive contributions to school community

Weaknesses: Missed Opportunity for Positive Framing → Your statement begins with a negative attribute ("not very competitive") rather than emphasising your collaborative strengths. The connection between being non-competitive and event organisation needs stronger logical flow.

Exemplar: "My collaborative nature drives me to excel in school projects and event organisation, where I focus on creating an inclusive atmosphere that brings out the best in everyone."

#3 "The juggling of schoolwork, basketball practice, and other activities is tough at times, yet I learn to organize my time better."

Strengths:

- Shows resilience and growth mindset
- Demonstrates practical life skills development

Weaknesses: Passive Voice and Vague Resolution → Your statement uses passive language ("is tough") and doesn't specify how you've improved your time management. The conclusion lacks specific strategies or outcomes.

Exemplar: "By implementing a digital planning system, I've successfully balanced my demanding schedule of advanced coursework, basketball training, and student council responsibilities."

Actionable Task: Rewrite your response focusing on one specific leadership experience where you demonstrated your collaborative skills, detailing the situation, your actions, and the measurable positive impact on your school community.

Score: 40/50

Section 2:

#1 Hello, my name is Ethan Lee, and I work hard to help my school by being a team player. I value my classmates and have learned how to work well with many different people. Being part of teams has taught me the value of communication and supporting each other to reach our goals.

#2 ~~I am not very competitive, so I like~~ [My collaborative nature drives me to enjoy] working on school projects, ~~organizing~~ [organising] events, and creating a positive atmosphere. I also like explaining some difficult ideas to my classmates or helping them if they need it, because I believe that our school should be a place where everybody helps each other.

I am also focused on time management skills. #3 The juggling of schoolwork, basketball practice, and other activities is tough at times, ~~yet I learn to organize~~ [yet I continue improving how I organise] my time better. As I improve further in all these aspects, I'll be able to contribute more to the activities in school. What means most to me about my school is the sense of community: friends in class, teammates on the basketball court, and teacher support-they all respect one another. ~~Six~~ [In six] years from now, when I hope to be attending ~~college~~ [university] or beginning my career, I look forward to returning to my school and giving back, supporting younger students as others have supported me.
