

Section 1:

Part #1: First paragraph Strengths:

- You effectively introduce the core concept of UBI and its potential impact
- You establish a clear connection between UBI and poverty alleviation

Weaknesses: Underdeveloped argument structure → Your opening lacks specific details about how UBI would function in developing nations. The phrase "giving individuals the amount of money they require" needs more concrete elaboration on implementation and funding mechanisms.

Exemplar: "Universal Basic Income (UBI) is a comprehensive social welfare programme where governments provide regular, unconditional payments to citizens. In developing nations, this system could provide crucial financial stability, enabling individuals to meet basic needs and invest in their future."

Part #2: Second paragraph Strengths:

- You identify real challenges faced in developing nations
- You connect these challenges directly to your UBI solution

Weaknesses: Oversimplified causation → Your statement "With UBI, 3rd world countries would get payed correctly and fairly" oversimplifies the complex economic factors at play. The relationship between UBI and job acquisition needs more detailed analysis.

Exemplar: "Living in developing nations often means facing limited economic opportunities and social instability. UBI could provide a foundation of financial security, enabling individuals to focus on education and skill development while searching for sustainable employment."

Part #3: Final paragraph Strengths:

- You present a personal stance on the topic
- You connect UBI to long-term financial security

Weaknesses: Limited supporting evidence → Your conclusion about UBI being "a huge establishment to our society" would benefit from specific examples of successful UBI trials or pilot programmes.

Exemplar: "Based on existing evidence and pilot programmes, I strongly support implementing UBI as it offers a promising solution to poverty and technological unemployment. The system could transform retirement planning while ensuring financial stability for future generations."

Actionable Task: Rewrite your second paragraph focusing specifically on one developing nation as a case study, including specific challenges and how UBI could address them directly.

Section 2:

~~#1 Universal Basic Income (UBI) is a social welfare proposal that involves the government regularly giving every citizen a minimum income without conditions. It can help people of 3rd world countries~~ [Universal Basic Income (UBI) is a social welfare proposal through which governments provide all citizens with regular, unconditional minimum income. This system could benefit people in developing countries], giving individuals the amount of money they require to escape the grasps of poverty and prevent technological unemployment.

~~#2 3rd world countries can be a real setback. Living in them means that you are less likely to get a large pay check~~ [Living in developing countries often presents significant challenges, where earning potential is typically limited] and are prone to serious danger from terrorists and war. ~~With UBI, 3rd world countries would get payed correctly and fairly~~ [Through UBI, citizens in developing nations would receive consistent financial support]. UBI ~~Lets~~ [lets] individuals that find it hard to survive on their own, ~~give~~ [giving] them a greater chance of being able to find a good job, and home to settle in.

Technologically unemployment is one of the possible ways people lose their jobs. It occurs mostly in factories and facilities and is when human workers are replaced by robotic arms, levers and rovers. UBI ~~Can~~ [can] help prevent all of this by providing regular, unconditional payments to all citizens to ensure financial security and personal freedom. This allows people to stay on the same job without having to pay extra and prove that they are worthy of staying in the job.

#3 In my opinion, UBI is a huge establishment to our society which can help defeat poverty and prevent technological unemployment. UBI ~~Is~~ [is] a huge help to all of our society and personally I support the idea of having it in our daily ~~basis~~ [life]. UBI ~~Could~~ [could] be the future of our lives when we don't have to work anymore, in retirement terms, and still get passive income.
