

Section 1:

#1 First Paragraph (Introduction) Strengths:

- Effective hook with a direct question to engage readers
- Clear statement of the hotel's cost upfront, establishing transparency

Weaknesses: Underdeveloped Opening → Your introduction lacks a smooth transition between the hook and price information. The phrase "may seem like a scam at first" creates an abrupt shift and doesn't effectively lead into your discussion of luxury.

Exemplar: "Welcome to the Raffles Hotel Singapore, where luxury meets historical grandeur. While the room rate of 3,988.59 Singapore dollars (4,712.28 Australian dollars) for two adults might seem substantial, the extraordinary experience justifies every penny."

#2 The Entry Paragraph Strengths:

- Vivid sensory details that paint a clear picture of the hotel's interior
- Effective use of architectural details to establish the hotel's character

Weaknesses: Inconsistent Flow → Your paragraph structure jumps between different aspects without clear connections. The phrase "reminding us of London" appears disconnected from the previous descriptions and needs better integration with the surrounding content.

Exemplar: "At first glimpse, the hotel's grandeur is evident in its stunning three-level Victorian architecture. The quiet ambience of the lobby, adorned with endless wooden panels and magnificent chandeliers, reflects its British colonial heritage."

#3 Final Paragraph Strengths:

- Clear concluding statement that ties back to the main topic
- Confident recommendation that shows conviction

Weaknesses: Limited Conclusion Development → Your conclusion rushes to recommend the hotel without fully synthesising the previously mentioned features. The phrase "if you want to save up for a more luxury stay" needs more context about the value proposition.

Exemplar: "The Raffles Hotel Singapore's remarkable legacy, rich history, and exceptional amenities justify its premium pricing, making it an investment in an unforgettable luxury experience."

Actionable Task: Rewrite your introduction paragraph focusing on creating smoother transitions between ideas, particularly when introducing the price point. Ensure each sentence naturally flows into the next by using connecting phrases.

Overall Score: 40/50
