

Section 1:

#1 (First paragraph) Strengths:

- You effectively open with a thought-provoking question
- You clearly state your position on white paper

Weaknesses: Underdeveloped main points → Your opening lacks depth in explaining how clarity makes white paper the best choice. The signage example is too brief and needs more details about how white paper's clarity benefits users. "It can be easy to use by making the writing clear not the background" is vague and needs more specific benefits.

Exemplar: White paper is undoubtedly the best choice because its pristine background ensures maximum readability, making it perfect for everything from important documents to everyday notes.

#2 (Second paragraph) Strengths:

- You introduce the concept of professionalism
- You provide a relevant example from architecture

Weaknesses: Repetitive phrasing → Your writing repeats "white paper" and "professionalism" too often. The sentence "white colour paper has professionalism by being formal" simply restates without adding new information. You need to vary your word choice and expand on why formality matters.

Exemplar: In professional settings, white paper remains the standard because it conveys a sense of formality and ensures documents maintain their credibility across all industries.

#3 (Third paragraph) Strengths:

- You mention multiple uses for white paper
- You connect versatility to readability

Weaknesses: Limited evidence → Your examples of versatility (painting, drawing, crafting) are listed without showing how white paper excels in these areas. Your point about planning with any colour needs more detail about why this matters.

Exemplar: Whether you're sketching detailed architectural plans or creating vibrant artwork, white paper's neutral background allows every colour to stand out brilliantly, making it the most adaptable choice for any project.

■ Your writing presents good basic arguments for white paper, but you need to develop each point with more specific examples and detailed explanations. Try to make your paragraphs longer by including real-life situations where white paper's benefits make a difference. Add more supporting details to show exactly how white paper's clarity, professionalism, and versatility make it superior to other colours.

Actionable Task: Rewrite your paragraph about versatility, focusing on providing at least three detailed examples of how white paper's versatility makes it better than coloured paper in specific situations. Make sure to fix your typos.

---

Score: 32/50

---

Section 2:

BEST PAPER COLOUR BY: JASH

~~Have you wondered what the best colour of paper truly is? I firmly align that the colour of paper is white.~~ [Have you ever wondered what the best colour of paper truly is? I firmly believe that white paper is superior.] Clarity, ~~professionalism~~ [professionalism] and versatility support this statement. #1

~~Firstly, white paper is the best colour of paper because it is the easiest to use. It can be easy to use by making the writing clear not the background.~~ [Firstly, white paper stands out as the best choice because it offers unmatched ease of use, ensuring that writing remains clear against its pristine background.] For example, using signage ~~show~~ [shows] the clarity of white paper. This is why white paper has clarity. #2

~~Secondly, white paper is the best colour of paper because it has professionalism.~~ [Secondly, white paper excels because it embodies professionalism.] ~~white~~ [White] colour paper has professionalism by being formal, simple and traditionally the most popular and accepted colour of paper. For example, ~~different~~ [different] coloured paper is not allowed in ~~archetecture~~ [architecture] for professionalism. This is why white coloured paper has professionalism. #3

Lastly, white coloured paper is the best colour of paper because it has versatility. White coloured paper is versatile because it can do lots of things like painting clearly, drawing clearly and crafting. For example, you can plan out with any colour on white paper and it will still have easy readability [readability]. ~~this~~ [This] is why white coloured paper is versatile.

In conclusion, white paper is the best colour of paper ~~because~~ [because] of ~~it~~ [its] clarity, professionalism and versatility.