#1: "As I entered the colourful mystical portal into the world of my wildest dreams. I see a magical unicorn comfort its young one there mane looked as if it was made of moonlight sparkling in the breeze of the canopy."

Strengths:

- Rich imagery through descriptive words like "moonlight sparkling"
- Creative use of fantasy elements creating an engaging opening

Weaknesses: Run-on sentences and tense inconsistency → You switch between past tense "entered" and present tense "see". The sentences are joined incorrectly, making them hard to follow. "there" is used instead of "their".

As I entered the colourful mystical portal into the world of my wildest dreams, I saw a magical unicorn comforting its young one. Their mane looked as if it was made of moonlight, sparkling in the breeze beneath the canopy.

#2: "The gryffin looks at me as if I am it's youngling as it lets me ride on it's cushion-like back."

Strengths:

- Lovely simile comparing yourself to a youngling
- Good use of descriptive language with "cushion-like"

Weaknesses: Apostrophe misuse and tense consistency → You use "it's" instead of "its" twice. The tense shifts from earlier parts of your diary entry.

The griffin looked at me as if I was its youngling before letting me ride on its cushion-like back.

#3: "After that once in a lifetime journey I realise that the only way to have a good life is to live it to the absolute fullest because life always has something better for you."

Strengths:

- Thoughtful reflection on your experience
- Clear message about living life fully

Weaknesses: Missing punctuation and underdeveloped conclusion → Your ending thought needs more connection to your magical journey. Missing comma after "journey".

After that once-in-a-lifetime journey, I realised that magic exists in living life to its fullest, just as it does in the mystical world of unicorns and griffins.

■ Your diary entry shows wonderful imagination in creating a magical world. To make your writing even better, try adding more details about your feelings during each moment of the adventure. You could describe how your heart raced when the griffin first approached you, or how the wind felt against your skin high above the clouds. Your ending message is lovely, but you could connect it more closely to your magical experience. You may rewrite your entire piece and follow these suggestions.

#1 ~~As I entered the colourful mystical portal into the world of my wildest dreams. I see a magical unicorn comfort its young one there mane looked as if it was made of moonlight sparkling in the breeze of the canopy.~~ [As I entered the colourful mystical portal into the world of my wildest dreams, I saw a magical unicorn comforting its young one. Their mane looked as if it was made of moonlight, sparkling in the breeze beneath the canopy.]

I see the mystical and wonderful ~~the half eagle half lion the Gryffin~~ [the Griffin]. It felt as if I was in a Harry Potter book. As I creep closer and closer with the rustling grass tickling my toes.

#2 ~~The gryffin looks at me as if I am it's youngling as it lets me ride on it's cushion-like back.~~ [The griffin looked at me as if I was its youngling before letting me ride on its cushion-like back.] It soars high above the clouds [and] the intense wind tickles my rough face. For an odd and confusing reason the griffin it drop [droppeme off on the most stunning mountain. As I look to the lush, gorgeous canopy I jump and land in the colourful portal that takes me back home.

#3 ~~After that once in a lifetime journey I realise that the only way to have a good life is to live it to the absolute fullest because life always has something better for you.~~ [After that once-in-a-lifetime journey, I realised that magic exists in living life to its fullest, just as it does in the mystical world of unicorns and griffins.]
