

How to live a sustainable life

Hi guys, it might sound weird, but I am a time traveler from the 2060s. Today I will be introducing the interesting topic of recycling and taking care of our planet. You guys today might just think a ruffled piece of scrap paper that you will never use, is very useless. However, you can still use that piece of paper by recycling it!

Imagine a world where there isn't even a single piece of waste, that could be our world if we start to recycle more. Currently our earth needs more recycling. If we don't recycle at all, our world could be ruined. If we increase the rubbish that we make, it could leak into our beautiful ocean, full of joy and wonder into destruction and abolition. It could even go into the canopies of the forests of wonder and spoil all the animals' tummies. Contemporarily, our oceans are still endangered because of the waste that we all produce, but these charming creatures don't know what is right and what is wrong. If we show them the wrong things they will definitely think it is right and start grinding on it. Instead by recycling we can make the things that are wasted into new things. We aren't creating a pile or dumping it into another creature's houses, but we are making it into better things.

In the future climate change is a big deal that we all are facing. The heat has increased, and we all are suffering. The main problem is burning these precious fuels called Fossil Fuels. They were made when prehistoric plants and animals died and were gradually buried by layers of rock. However when you burn them to make energy, you release a lot of greenhouse gases and carbon dioxide. This adds heat into our world, and a concentrated amount of problems to our environment. For example, glaciers have melted in the past few decades and there has been a ridiculous amount of floods in summer near places where there are a lot of glaciers. Also, the coral reef, one of the 7 wonders in the world, has been bleached over 50 %. This has caused a lot of tourist restrictions, like a majestic, shimmering peacock in a cage where no one can see its beautiful feathers. It is indeedly a shame in our generation, but hopefully you guys can help this generation even further on!

The significance of sustainable living can be embedded into your life, if you guys listen to my advice and move further in your life. Today I have taught you all about recycling and climate change, and I hope you guys will use it. It is important to know how to live a sustainable life as if you know how to, you could live a life full of joy, but it's not only you being ecstatic but everyone would be happy. You would've saved the marine life of poor fish, saved the little bears getting sick and helped people who in 2060 would be suffering from floods! I hope you all hear my word and spring out to action!
