

Section 1:

#1: "In a great hospital, which inhabits the middle of a city. Dr James is pacing down a busy hall, doors swinging open; and people pacing in different directions. He arrives at his reassuring sanctuary. Shielding him from the unsettling word."

Strengths: Your use of vivid movement creates a dynamic hospital scene. The contrast between the chaotic hallway and his "reassuring sanctuary" effectively establishes setting.

Sentence fragments → Your opening sentence is a fragment rather than a complete thought. "In a great hospital, which inhabits the middle of a city" lacks a main verb and subject combination that forms a complete sentence. Consider combining it with the next sentence or adding a proper subject-verb structure.

"A great hospital stands in the middle of the city. Dr James paces down its busy hallway, dodging swinging doors and people hurrying in different directions."

#2: "He is showered with unwavering fatigue, due to the very late night yesterday. However he is still as inviting as normal. He is a tapestry of carefully woven strings, a bright-colored as a parakeet."

Strengths: Your metaphor comparing Dr James to a tapestry shows creativity. Your attempt to show contrasting states (tired yet inviting) adds complexity to the character.

Unclear metaphors → The description "tapestry of carefully woven strings" and "bright-colored as a parakeet" don't clearly connect to Dr James's character traits. These metaphors need more context to help readers understand what aspects of his personality you're describing.

"Exhaustion weighs on Dr James after yesterday's late night. Despite his tiredness, his warm smile welcomes everyone. His colourful personality brightens the room like a tropical bird."

#3: "Suddenly flowers of self-love, and trees of fortitude grow faster than the blink of an eye. In the center of this all lays him a sentinel of empathy and kindness. He is a lighthouse to people lost in their void."

Strengths: Your extended metaphor creates a vivid mental image. The comparison of Dr James to a lighthouse effectively conveys his role as a guide.

Abrupt transition → The sudden shift to metaphorical imagery about flowers and trees growing appears without connection to the previous content. This creates confusion about whether this is happening in reality, in Dr James's imagination, or as a purely symbolic description.

"In his mind, confidence blooms like flowers and strength grows tall like trees. At the heart of his work, Dr James stands as a guardian of empathy, guiding patients through their darkness like a lighthouse."

Your narrative has wonderful creative elements and uses rich, imaginative language to describe Dr James and his environment. The core idea of a dedicated doctor finding strength despite fatigue comes through clearly. However, the piece would benefit from a more coherent structure that guides readers through the physical setting and into Dr James's thoughts more smoothly.

Additionally, consider developing a clearer timeline or sequence of events. Your narrative jumps between physical descriptions, metaphorical imagery, and brief moments of action without a clear progression. By organising these elements more carefully, you could create a stronger sense of Dr James's journey through his day.

Also, some sentences contain grammatical errors that make your meaning unclear. Watch for sentence fragments, missing conjunctions, and punctuation errors that can confuse readers. Simple edits to sentence structure would make your creative ideas shine more brightly.

■ Your writing shows tremendous imagination and uses vivid metaphors to bring Dr James to life. To strengthen your piece, focus on creating clearer connections between your beautiful metaphors and what they represent about Dr James. For example, when you describe him as "a tapestry of carefully woven strings," explain what those strings represent—perhaps his varied skills or complex personality. Also, be careful with sentence structure to ensure each sentence expresses a complete thought. Try reading your work aloud to catch fragments or run-ons. Your creative descriptions show great potential; with some structural improvements, your readers will better appreciate the wonderful character you've created.

---

Overall Score: 37/50

---

Section 2:

~~In a great hospital, which inhabits the middle of a city.~~ [In a great hospital that stands in the middle of a city,] Dr James is pacing down a busy hall, doors swinging open [,] and people pacing in different directions. He arrives at his reassuring sanctuary [,] ~~Shielding~~ [shielding] him from the unsettling ~~word~~ [world]. #1

~~He is showered with unwavering fatigue, due to the very late night yesterday.~~ [Unwavering fatigue showers over him due to his very late night yesterday.] However he is still as inviting as normal. He is a tapestry of carefully woven strings, ~~a bright-colored as~~ [as bright-coloured as] a parakeet. #2 He examines his equipment, his gentle gaze rippling through space and time. He is packed with compassion ~~of~~ [for] his job. He is resilient to finish this day, as he is truly a sculptor of every person~~'s~~ hearing. His testament resonates throughout his mind. His silent legacy seldomly provides recovery from his tiring night. This brings him to the oasis of his heart. His mind ~~raining~~ [rains] drops of reassurance, across the endless desert.

~~Suddenly flowers of self-love, and trees of fortitude grow faster than the blink of an eye.~~
[Suddenly, flowers of self-love and trees of fortitude grow faster than the blink of an eye.] #3 In the ~~center~~ [centre] of this all ~~lays~~ [lies] him a sentinel of empathy and kindness. He is a lighthouse to people lost in their void. The majestic clock ticks for every second [,] ~~As~~ [as] this tiny object somehow manages time. The hand of the clock reaches to him and pats him on the shoulder. It rings "~~don't~~ ["Don't] worry you'll be alright, you got ~~his~~ [this,] bro ["] ~~Then~~ [then] the hand retracts and the door opens [.] a [A] person wanders in and Dr James gets ready full of confidence. "Ok let's get this started," he says to his patient.