

Section 1:

#1 "As a panda was wondering around the forest, looking for bamboo, and hi friends he stumbled upon, something the shined in the moonlight. It was a diamond bamboo stick, it had very sharp and blunt edges and looked like it had millions of tiny bumps on it!"

Strengths: Your description of the diamond bamboo stick creates a vivid image with specific details like "millions of tiny bumps" that help readers visualise this magical object.

Punctuation confusion → Your opening sentence contains several punctuation errors that make it difficult to follow the panda's actions. The commas are placed incorrectly, breaking the flow of reading. For example, "hi friends" should be "his friends" and the comma after it interrupts the sentence structure.

As the panda wandered through the forest, searching for bamboo and his friends, he stumbled upon something that shined in the moonlight. It was a diamond bamboo stick with sharp edges and millions of tiny bumps covering its surface.

#2 "Then while the panda's spinning started to slow down, he ascended up into the sky and zoomed across the world to another universe. He landed in a mossy stone temple, with vines sticking out everywhere, that looked like they where going to grab you!"

Strengths: Your description of the temple creates an eerie atmosphere with the mossy stone and grabbing vines, which adds excitement to the panda's adventure.

Run-on sentences → Your sentences contain too many ideas joined together with commas and conjunctions. This makes it hard for readers to follow the sequence of events clearly. Also, "where" is used incorrectly when it should be "were."

As the panda's spinning slowed, he rose into the sky and zoomed across the world into another universe. He landed in a mossy stone temple where vines stretched out from every surface, looking as though they might reach out and grab him.

#3 "The panda was only 10 years old and didn't know what it ment, but as the bamboo stick teleported the panda back into his realm again, the puzzled face of his turned into a smile, as he suddenly realised what the staff ment!"

Strengths: You've created a satisfying conclusion where the character has a moment of realisation, giving your story a clear ending.

Spelling and word choice issues → There are spelling errors ("ment" instead of "meant") and awkward phrasing like "the puzzled face of his." The repetition of "the panda" makes the writing feel choppy.

The young ten-year-old panda didn't understand the message at first. However, as the bamboo stick teleported him back to his own realm, his puzzled expression transformed into a smile when he suddenly understood what the staff had meant.

■ Your adventure story has a creative concept with magical elements that young readers would enjoy. The diamond bamboo stick, teleportation, and mysterious temple create an exciting world. To improve your writing, focus on organising your ideas more clearly. Start each paragraph with a topic sentence that introduces what will happen next. Also, try reading your story aloud to catch awkward sentences and repeated words. You could add more details about how the panda feels during his adventure to help readers connect with him. Additionally, make sure each event follows logically from the previous one. Spend more time developing the message about not judging a book by its cover—perhaps show why this lesson is important to the panda. You might consider expanding the ending to show how the panda applies this new knowledge in his life.

Score: 37/50

Section 2:

~~As a panda was wondering around the forest, looking for bamboo, and his friends he stumbled upon, something the shined in the moonlight.~~ [#1 As a panda was wandering around the forest, looking for bamboo and his friends, he stumbled upon something that shined in the moonlight.] It was a diamond bamboo stick, ~~it had very sharp and blunt edges and looked like it had millions of tiny bumps on it!~~ [it had very sharp edges and looked like it had millions of tiny bumps on it!] As the panda stuck out his revolting paw ~~out~~, he started to spin so rapidly, that no other animal, could even get a glimpse of him. ~~Then while~~ [While] the panda's spinning started to slow down, he ascended ~~up~~ into the sky and zoomed across the world to another universe.

~~He landed in a mossy stone temple, with vines sticking out everywhere, that looked like they where going to grab you!~~ [#2 He landed in a mossy stone temple with vines sticking out everywhere that looked like they were going to grab you!] Suddenly, the diamond bamboo stick arose and fell down onto the ground, revealing a hidden text, ~~the panda couldn't read anything,~~ [but the panda couldn't read anything,] but just as he was about to pick up the bamboo, the words turned golden and swarmed around him. Then the words turned into a language that he finally understood. The panda had suddenly started to read out loud, as it said "Don't Judge a book by it's cover, you must never Judge a book by the cover."

~~The panda was only 10 years old and didn't know what it ment, but as the bamboo stick teleported the panda back into his realm again, the puzzled face of his turned into a smile, as he suddenly realised what the staff ment!~~ [#3 The panda was only 10 years old and didn't know what it meant, but as the bamboo stick teleported him back into his realm again, his puzzled face turned into a smile as he suddenly realised what the staff meant!]